NEW HIANG COMMANDER

On July 15, 1991, Col. Allen Mizumoto, Deputy Commander for Maintenance, will assume the duties as Assistant Adjutant General, Air of the State of Hawaii. With this assignment, Col. Mizumoto will be promoted to the grade of Brigadier General. This position opened with the retirement of Brig. Gen. Kenji Sumida. Col. Melvin Morris, 201CCGP will replace Col. Mizumoto as the DCM.

As the DCM, Col. Mizumoto exercised command and control over a consolidated aircraft maintenance squadron, and functional control over ground communications-electronics maintenance activities of two aircraft control and warning squadrons.

Col. Mizumoto was born on November 30, 1936 in Honolulu. He graduated from Kaimuki High School in 1954 and attended the University of Hawaii. He enlisted in the HIANG in March 1954 and attained the rank of Senior Master Sergeant in June 1964. He was commissioned as a First Lieutenant in May 1965 through the ANG direct commissioning program. He made Colonel on May 31, 1979.

Col. Mizumoto is married to the former Miriam Mimori of Lihue, Kauai. They have a son, Lance who is an officer in the HIANG and two daughters, Lori and Cari.

We wish the new HIANG commander good luck and know that he will continue his success in his new position as the "Air Boss".

ASTRONAUT VISITS COMPOSITE GROUP

On June 14, Astronaut Charles Lacy Veach visited the Composite Group and gave a presentation on his recent mission in the space shuttle Discovery. Mr. Veach is a 1962 graduate of Punahou School and a 1966 graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy. He earned his pilot wings in 1967. SOCIAL ACTIONS

New DUI Procedure

Effective August 1, 1991, Hawaii's new DUI allows the revocation of your driver's licenses administratively.

Here is how the new law works:

ON THE ROAD. A police officer must have "reasonable suspicion" to stop a motorist, such as observing erratic driving or speeding; a driver can be stopped at a drunk-driving checkpoint. If the officer has "probable cause" to believe the driver is drunk, such as slurred speech or poor performance in a field sobriety test, the officer takes away the driver's license. The officer then issues a notice of administrative revocation, which serves as a 30-day driver's license unless the driver's license had already been revoked or suspended and the person is driving without proper authority.

The driver will be asked to take a breath or blood test to determine blood-alcohol content. If the driver refuses, the driver loses his or her license for a year provided the police action is upheld.

ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW. Within eight days of arrest, the administrative director reviews the police statement, blood-alcohol test, if available, and any written statements from the driver. The director then decides whether the license should be revoked based on a "preponderance of the evidence," meaning whichever side appears to have made its case. A driver has up to 60 days from arrest to ask for an administrative hearing on the director's decision. During the hearing, the driver may have a lawyer present, bring witnesses, and provide testimony. The administrative director then decides whether to uphold the earlier license revocation. The hearing must begin no later than 30 days after the request is made.

If the revocation is upheld, the driver may ask for a review by a district judge.

ADMINISTRATIVE REVOCATION PENALTIES. Administrative revocation of a driver's license lasts for three months if the driver had a clean record for the previous five years, that means no previous administrative revocation, loss of license for refusal to take a blood-alcohol test or a drunk-driving conviction. The penalty is one year if the driver refused to take a blood-alcohol test.

The revocation lasts one year if the driver had one incident in the previous five years, however, the revocation jumps to two years if the driver refused to take a blood-alcohol test.

The revocation lasts two years if there were two incidents in the previous seven years, and the license revocation goes to four years if the driver refused to take a blood-alcohol test.

The revocation lasts for life if there were three or more incidents in the last 10 years. (If the driver is a minor, the revocation lasts until the driver's 18th birthday.)

CRIMINAL PROCEDURES. Prosecutors may pursue criminal proceedings even if the driver is cleared in the administrative revocation process. However, no statements made by the driver in the administrative revocation hearing may be used against the driver in the criminal proceedings. Criminal penalties include license revocation, community service, stiff fines, and jail time.

Special note: Revocation under the administrative and/or criminal process means that the driver will not automatically get his or her license back once the penalty period is over. The driver must start all over again, by taking the long written test, the driver test, and also the driver will still have a record showing that his or her license was revoked.

If you want to know more about the effects of drugs on your driving, stop by the Social Actions Office.

PERSPECTIVE ASTORS

By Chaplain (Capt) Robert Nagamine

Summer time is sometimes a good time to make decisions about the future. The pace of life may slow down a little and allow us time to think carefully about important decisions we must make. There may be enough time to struggle through decisions we've been putting off. Whether it be career, family or personal decisions, this may be the ideal time to chart the new course we are going to take.

In order to make wise decisions, a person needs a keen sense of vision to make the right choices. When we are faced with the many "forks in the road," we need to clearly see which way to turn and what to do. Understanding and applying correctly the following "sights" may be just what we need.

Hindsight can be used as a helpful learning tool. Webster's dictionary describes hindsight as the "ability to see, after the event, what should have been done." A better plan needs to be drawn up for reoccurring problems. Have you found yourself asking, "Haven't we been down this road several times before?" Many times history does repeat itself. So, hindsight must be used to create an attitude of saying, "Now we know and have learned. Next time it'll be different."

Shortsightedness must be avoided. Sometimes people choose quick and easy answers, but these solutions are only short-lived. Figure out what your master plan is and follow it, because there must be some "sense to this madness." Remember, life is like a marathon and the long distance runners are the ones that win the race.

Foresight is what will make things happen, if we act on it. Foresight is the ability to thoughtfully look ahead and make provisions for the future. It is to figure out what probably will happen and be ready for it. We need to count the cost, if we remain on the same direction. We need to make some changes, if we don't like what we see up ahead.

Finally insight is what we really need. Insight is the ability of seeing more than the things that are obvious. Sometimes life can get pretty complicated and we need insight. So pray for insight. Ask God for insight. He will give us the insight needed to help us with our future plans.

May God grant you His divine sight in your planning and decision making in the days to come.

FOR THE FAMILY

Now that we are in the heart of summer and your children might be getting bored and restless, it may be a good idea to spend more time with your family. That way the summer will not seem so long for everyone. This summer could actually be an enjoyable time for you and your family. There are so many places you could go to, people you could see or things you could do. Be creative. Do different things. Enjoy yourself. You could, for example, go to the beach, visit friends or even see a magic show. Yes, even see a magic show...

Last month on a Tuesday evening, I went to see a magic show at the Hale Koa Hotel. It was an entertaining and enjoyable evening. It was a dinner show event and there were a number of families there. The dinner was an all-you-can-eat Italian style buffet with pizza, spaghetti and chicken including a fruit and vegetable salad bar plus an array of desserts.

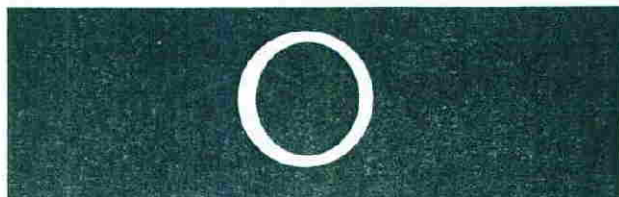

It was good to see a live magic show. Curtis Kam is the illusionist of the show and comes up with some good tricks. It's always fun to try to figure out how magicians do their tricks. But what I found more entertaining about the show was the juggling performance of Greg Gabaylo. To me, he was the hit of the show. At one point, he was juggling about 5 balls. He even ate an apple while juggling several items. He juggled balls, knives, glass bottles, boxes and you name it with such great coordination.

At any rate, if you are interested in the dinner show, the price is $15.95 for adults and $7.50 for children under 12 (gratuity included). If you plan on going, here's some advice: (1) make reservations in advance for at least four people, so that you can reserve a whole table to yourselves, (2) be on time (6:00pm on Tuesday evenings only) because the line to the food can get long, (3) you will need your military I.D. card, and (4) relax and enjoy yourself because you deserve a break. I hope the above information is helpful to your family. If you want more information that will help your family and other families, have your spouse or family member consider joining a family support group. To do this, contact your unit.

TOTAL ECLIPSE! What an awesome sight. It was, to say the least, a very humbling experience. Can't wait til the next one in the year 2106!!! Would like to send our congratulations to Brig. Gen. Edward Richardson as he assumes the role as the Adjutant General for the State of Hawaii and brings to the office outstanding leadership qualities. Congratulations are also in order for Col. Allen Mizumoto as he has been selected as the new Commander of the Hawaii Air National Guard. Col. Mizumoto's selection culminates an illustrious career, starting as an enlisted person in the HIANG to become the Commander of the same organization. Welcome aboard, in addition to our congratulations, goes to Col. Melvin Morris as he will soon assume his new role as the Deputy Commander for Maintenance...If you haven't done so, consider nominating your boss for the 'Pro Patria' award. This award is a way to thank your employer for the support given to you as you continue your career in the Guard. A certificate of appreciation, pictures, and maybe even a luncheon and tour is available to all recipients. See your supervisor or the Unit Career Advisor for more information. This becomes more important as we get closer to all the aircraft conversions and activations we'll be going through starting the latter part of this year. Many of us will have to go to school to get 'familiar' with the new F-15 we'll be receiving which may mean time away from our jobs as well as our families...Last chance to turn in your money or tickets (due at the end of drill) for the Chili Sale now going on. It's for a good cause as it supports many of the activities of the Squadron, especially the CAM Sq Recognition Night. Just informed that Reservists are now authorized to make reservations to stay at the Hale Koa Hotel. In the past, only military active duty personnel could stay there, but not anymore. However, reservations must be made at least a year in advance, otherwise you can go on standby and hope for a cancellation. See 1st Sgt. Doug Abe for details...And now for news of the Squadron.. Congrats to TSgt. Moises Felipe and wife Cheryl on the birth of their son earlier this month. Congrats also to Sgt. Raphael Rodrigues and wife Kathy as they welcomed son Rafael on June 14...The welcome mat goes to Sgt. Petey Tellez as he joins the Plans &

Scheduling section as a fully qualified scheduler; SrA. Doug Ogino and Vincent Morena as they join the Admin office; SrA. Ray Sherwood as he opted not to join the KC-135 unit and decided to join our Job Control folks (good choice)....A hearty welcome back goes to Amn. Kevin Kalani as he returns from the flightline tech school and is performing his 30-day seasoning training; AB Mark Edwards returns from the Munitions Maintenance school and is also doing his 30-day seasoning; A1C. Sheldon Smith just returned from the Munitions Systems school where he averaged a whopping 96.4% on all test scores. He returns as an Honor Graduate from Lowry AFB. Folks presently in school or soon to attend include: Sgt. Gordon Narusawa attending the Munitions Inspector course; Sgt. Shanna Komatsu is attending the Munitions Operations course; TSgt. Raymond Choy is attending the Flight Line Avionics course; TSgt. Dennis Mishima will be attending the Plans & Scheduling course; A1C. Ken Guerrero will be going to BMT and Aerospace Ground Equipment school. Good luck to you all. Recent returnees from school were Sgt. Eric Becera (Langley AFB) and A1C. Eric Holt (Holloman AFB). They both attended an avionics course at those bases. Would like to welcome AB Frankie Nolasco as he joins our Avionics Branch. Good to have you aboard...Congrats to SSgt. Mark Coulbourne of the Engine shop as he recently competed in the Armed Forces Body Building Championship in the 'Light-Heavyweight' division. Mark won 3rd Place in the division and also won a 1st Place medal for the Inter-Service Group Posing Contest.Welcome back goes to all those who participated in the 'Red Flag' exercise at Nellis AFB, Nevada, as they spent two weeks in 110-140 degree weather qualifying our pilots and jets in the exercise. Aloha and mahalo goes to Sgt. Dia Fields as she completes her tour with the HIANG...Now that construction has been completed, the new Munitions Maintenance and Storage Facility and Composite Avionics and Weapons Release Facility will be the site for a blessing on the Sunday UTA, August 4 at 2:00pm. You're all invited to the Avionics and Weapons Facility which is located next to the 201 CCG Headquarters and help celebrate the opening of the facility...Start making plans to attend the 154 CAM Sq Recognition Nite to be held on October 11...That's all for now, so til next issue..."Character consists of what you do on the third and fourth tries." New Referral Award

Headquarters HIANG has approved the addition of two new awards to the HIANG's recognition program. One of the awards will be presented to the HIANG member referring the most individuals which resulted in enlistment in the HIANG. The second award will be given to the unit with the highest amount of referrals on a per capita basis. The awards are based on referrals submitted during the fiscal year.

The individual who wins the referral award will be presented a trophy at the annual HIANG Awards Banquet and will qualify for an F-15 ride. The unit award will be a perpetual trophy which will also be presented at the HIANG Awards Banquet. Each recruiter will validate referrals received and forward referral slips to HIANG/DPR for record keeping purposes.

Call in your referrals to the HIANG Recruiting Office at 449-5601. As in the past, referrals have proven to be the best source for enlistments. Help your friends and family get involved with the outstanding programs that the HIANG can offer.

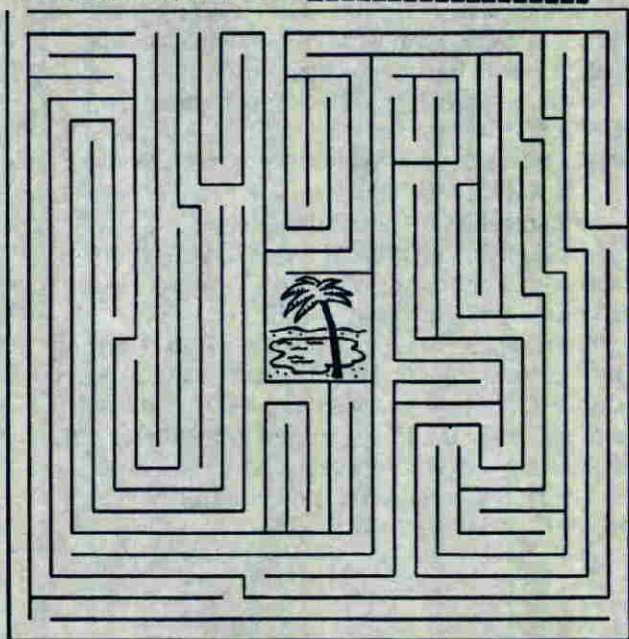

Inspection Fee

On May 13, the Agriculture Department began charging a user fee to cover the cost of inspecting agriculture products coming into the United States from other countries. On August 1, the fee will also be charged for inspecting airline passenger baggage departing Hawaii or Puerto Rico for the continental United States. The fee will be $2.00 for airline passengers arriving from foreign countries, Hawaii or Puerto Rico. Undeclared agricultural items intercepted by inspectors can lead to fines of $50 to $1,000.

Asbestos in the Home

(4 of 4 parts)

Since asbestos is widely used in industry, could it exist in your home? Asbestos has been used in a wide variety of household products and home building. Some examples are appliances, ceilings, wall and pipe coverings, floor tiles and some roofing materials. So, yes, asbestos could be in your home. In the past, the use of asbestos was (1) to help strengthen a product's material, (2) for thermal insulation within a product, (3) for thermal or acoustical insulation or decoration on exposed surfaces; and (4) for fire protection. If you suspect that your home contains asbestos, it is best to leave the asbestos-containing material alone.

Asbestos becomes a problem when it becomes airborne. If you plan to renovate, have a survey done first by a professional. In general, home repair contractors are not experienced in the proper procedures for handling asbestos. Hiring a professional can help you to determine if you have asbestos. A professional knows where to look, the proper technique in obtaining samples and analyzing it, and offers technical advice about what is the best thing to do. Remember, removal of the material is usually the last alternative.

HEALTHFUL HINT - How lucky are you?

Your chances of winning a lottery grand prize with a single ticket? 1 in 5,200,000.

Your chances of being struck by lightning in your lifetime? 1 in 600,000.

Your chances of appearing on The Tonight Show? 1 in 490,000.

Your chances of being injured in a car accident this year? 1 in 75. Wear your seatbelts!

DENTAL NOTES - Does your toothbrush need replacing? Diamonds last forever. And your teeth, which are just as precious, should last at least throughout your lifetime. A good toothbrush helps fight the dental diseases that can lead to tooth loss.

Unfortunately, it's one thing that does not last. An average toothbrush will need to be replaced every three to four months. Ask your dentist or dental hygienist to recommend a brush that is right for you. It's a small yet important investment toward a lifetime of healthy smiles.

LEGAL BRIEF

By Maj. Stanley Kopacz

The following is an attempt to explain the new DUI law in plain terms:

If you are arrested for DUI, the police officer will ask you to take a breath or blood test to see how much alcohol is in your system. If you refuse to take either test, the arresting officer will type up a paper stating the reasons why he felt you were intoxicated, for example, erratic driving, smell of liquor, or failure of a field sobriety test. He then swears in front of a notary public that the statement is true. The statement then becomes an affidavit. Within a period of less than a month, you will meet with an administrative hearing officer who will review the case and decide whether the officer did have some reason to ask you to take a test. If he agrees, then your license is suspended for one year. It takes very little for the hearing officer to agree. The smell of liquor, for instance, is sufficient.

But that's not all: You still have to deal with the DUI offense. This is heard in District Court where the standard of proof is more difficult for the State to meet. If convicted for the first time, you face a 90 day loss of license (which really doesn't matter, because you already lost it for a year in the hearing), and or up to six months in jail, (although people rarely do jail time the first time around), and or a fine of up to $1,000 and or a minimum of 72 hours community service.

Of course, if you elect to take a blood or breath test, all you face is the DUI trial.

Any questions, contact Judge Advocate office at 449-6102

1991 ANGUS NATIONAL SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT Alcoa, Tennessee, AUGUST 14-18 1991

By CMSgt. Cornwall S.
Matsusaka

The Hawaii ANG will participate in the 150-team, 26th Annual ANGUS National Softball Tournament at Knoxville, Tennessee. Team expenses, such as entrance fee ($150.00), uniform ($384.00) and ground transportation ($511.00) were finally satisfied through fund raising efforts and donations. The overwhelming support of the June 28th fund raising luncheon resulted in a net profit of $530.91. TSgt. Antone Gabriel (Luncheon Chairman), MSgt. Larry Kauleinamoku (Coordinator), and team members, thank you all for the outstanding support.

Ten players were selected by a Steering Committee (made up of 154 COMPG and 201 CCGP members) and the remaining six players were selected via coach's choice. In addition, Pam Goya, Sandra Nakano and Leilani Lim will accompany the team to McGhee Tyson. These individuals were selected for their past administrative and logistical support of the HIANG softball program. The 20-member Hawaii group includes the following: Hickam AFB - Edwin Chung-Hoon (Mgr), Antone Gabriel (Coach), Ronald Muronaga, Wayne Soma, Billy Ramos, Cornwall Matsusaka, Karl Kaneshiro, Miles Kaneshiro, Chris Partika, Jody Goya, Bobby Furtado, Arthur Kaai, Pamela Goya, Sandra Nakano, and Leilani Lim; Wheeler AFB - Ronald Peralta and David Okinishi; Kauai - Chris Olores; Hilo - Terron Buyuan; Maui - Dale Corpuz.

Mahalo to the countless number of individuals for making this trip possible.
